

The Relative I Never Met

The person that I never met was my great-grandpa Albert Jacob Jaeger. He was born in rural Guttenberg Iowa, on January 14, 1896 to German immigrants, Joseph and Catherine (Kressman) Jaeger. He attended St. Mary's Grade School at Guttenberg. After graduating at 8th grade he worked and learned the trade raising (building) big barns.

Albert also learned the trade of witching for water and then drilling wells. He also drove sand points which is an easier method of drilling along the Mississippi out on Essiman and Able Islands. Great-Grandpa also constructed and repaired wind mills. He did this until entering into the army in May 1918, at Camp Dodge in Fort Dodge, Iowa, at the age of 22.

Upon finishing basic training he rode troop trains to the ocean. There he was placed on a ship and sent to France to serve in World War I. He served a little over a year which at that time his battalion encountered poison gas and he was shell shocked. An explosion went off and busted both of his eardrums from which at that time he lost his hearing. He was taken to a French Hospital until he was able to travel back to the United States. After retiring to the United States he was sent to Des Moines, to the veterans Hospital. Then he was honorably discharged from the army. Then Great-Grandpa went to work with his father being a carpenter and well driller. In 1921, Great-Grandpa Joseph Jaeger went to Joseph Hefel's to build a barn and windmill. That is where Great-Grandpa Albert met Great-grandma Lucille (Hefel). They were married May 17, 1922.

After Marriage they moved to Dubuque where Great-Grandma was a personal maid for a doctors wife and great-Grandpa was a trolley car conductor. Their first child was born in Dubuque. They lived there for almost two years and then moved to North Buena Vista to Great-Great-Grandpa Cook's farm. The next two children were born on that farm. Then they moved to Turkey River farm where child number four was born.

Now the depression era started to hit. Albert moved his family to Guttenberg where he sought employment by helping construct a government job-Lock and Dam #10. A friend of Great-Grandpa's lost his life while they were working together pouring cement into the forms for the big cement walls. To this day his body is encased within the cement walls of Lock and Dam # 10. While working there two more children were born.

When finished, he continued onto another government job- building U.S. Highway 52. He also continued drilling wells on weekends and evenings after work. Two more children were born during this time. In 1940, Great-Grandpa went to work at Meuser Lumber, specializing as a carpenter building houses, big buildings, and barn raising. He also delivered coal for people to burn for heat.

He continued to repair wind mills and water pumps. He also cut blocks of ice out of the Mississippi River in the winter and stored it in an ice barn and packed it in saw dust. Then during the summer, he traveled all over Guttenberg in the evenings selling ice blocks to people for their ice boxes. During this time three more children were born. Now eleven children were born: Lorraine (79), Dorothy-deceased, George-deceased, Donald-deceased, Joseph-deceased, Evelyn-deceased, Marita (my grandmother), Robert (65), Norma (63), Raymond (60), Roland (55).

Approximately in 1942-1943, Great-Grandpa Albert was called to take his pump pulling equipment to North Buena vista to rescue a retarded man in his 40's. he had walked away from their home and wondered into an abandoned lead mine and fell down a shaft. He was lowered down onto the shaft by a rope tied around him. He reached the man and tied a rope around him and he was brought out of the shaft first, then Great-Grandpa was raised out of the shaft.

Other little interesting facts about Great-Grandpa was he worked at Meuser Lumber for 23 years. The last house he designed and built was in 1967, when Great-Grandpa fell off the roof at the age of 71. He raised my Grandpa Kregel's barn out at the farm and he also built a corn crib in 1966. While working for Meuser Lumber, his truck stalled on the railroad tracks in Guttenberg and was struck by a train.

Great-Grandpa loved to fish. He went on a vacation to Texas and Mexico with my Grandpa and Grandma. He was fishing in the Gulf of Mexico and had an appendicitis attack. After crossing the border back into the United States, they had to drive 300 miles back to San Antonio to the hospital where great Uncle Don worked.

His hobbies included fishing, putting together jigsaw puzzles, playing Yahtezz, and doing woodworking.

He was unique- he read lips.

This story about Albert Jaeger, was written by a great granddaughter, Amber Coleman.
Written for a M-F-L-Mac-Mac. School Assignment, the year of 2002.

My Litany of the Saints

By Hildi Brooks

THE LITANY of the saints is, indeed, the longest prayer I have ever prayed. At least it seemed to be when I was a child of six, kneeling in the front pew of St. Mary's Church at my first attendance of 40 Hours Devotion.

I am not sure if it was the sing-song chanting of the numerous sanctus' and sanctes, or the equally sing-song, responsive "ora (orate) pro nobis" of the congregation, or the soft, diffused candlelight that highlighted the evening services, but, my fellow first graders and I struggled to keep awake. We yawned and fidgeted through the entire litany and only have the older students to thank for prodding and poking us into alertness.

We all give a sigh of relief when, at long last, the many visiting priests and bishops filed into center aisle, forming their processing, marching two by two, as their vibrant, masculine voices resounded and echoed throughout the church and vestibule with....

"Holy God, we praise Thy name,

Lord of all, we bow before Thee.

Heaven and earth, Thy vast domain.

Holy, Holy is Thy Name."

During the ensuing years I came to understand and appreciate the significance of the 40 Hours Devotions. I found the ceremony most inspirational, especially after I became a member of the choir and was allowed to observe from the choir loft where I had a marvelous view of the entire congregation. It was then, that I first began compiling my own personal litany of saints.

First and foremost are my own parents, George and Frances, sitting way down in front on the right-hand side of the church. These two would have to be the patron saints of parenting, of self-denial, of sacrifice. For anyone who managed to raise and educate 14 children certainly merits, at the very least, a small degree of saintliness....

Sancte George and Frances,

Orate pro nobis.

Directly in front of my parents sit Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carrier. He was our milkman, rising very early each morning to deliver fresh milk to all the residents in town. If he'd have any left over at the end of the day, he'd often swing by our house one more time and leave an extra bottle at no charge, knowing fullwell my mom's regular order of two quarts was never quite enough for her large family. And Mrs. Carrier, a kind soul, always was there to help wherever needed. This generosity must have run in the family, for I vividly recall an incident when their daughter, Patricia, surprised me with a whole bag of malted milk balls for my birthday when the two of us were in 3rd grade together; just one of the many nice gestures of friendship extended to her classmates....

Sancte Mr. and Mrs. Carrier and Patricia

Orate pro nobis.

I spot a late-comer directly below me. Ah, now here is a lady definitely in possession of saintly qualities. Lucille Jaeger, just like my mom had a large family and would have to be considered the 'saint of hard labor.' She cooked, cleaned, washed, ironed, mended, gardened, raised chickens, milked cows and still had time to bake the best pumpkin pies in the world....

Sanctus Lucille,

Ora pro nobis.

Right down in front, center aisle, I spot Mr. and Mrs. Paulie Meier, who own the grocery store. Paulie is tall and thin and has a shiny, bald head. He is special to me because I remember when he played St. Nicholas, in disguise, leaving bags of apples, oranges, candy and nuts upon our doorstep. Hattie was a neat and petite little lady with the kindest smile. She was especially good to me when I was a young girl and I chose her to be my Confirmation sponsor....

Sancte Paulie and Hattie,

Orate pro nobis.

Way in the back in the left hand corner, I notice Ellie Mikota, 'saint of root beer.' She lived on the corner of our street and bottled home-brewed root beer in her cellar. All the kids in the neighborhood could count on her to quench their thirst with an ice-cold glass of the foaming, amber colored brew!

... Sanctus Ellie,

Ora pro nobis.

Center aisle again, left-hand side, I see Mr. and Mrs. Andy Elsinger. They lived on a farm just outside town. My dad often helped Mr. Elsinger during his busy season and in return Mr. Elsinger gave my dad generous rations of meat and chickens at butchering time. And we know for a fact that Mrs. Elsinger makes the very BEST angel food cake in town....

Sancte Mr. and Mrs. Elsinger,

Orate pro nobis.

My own godparents, Fritz and Hilda Brimeyer, of Buevie. He is Dad's first cousin. In all the years of my childhood they remembered me at Christmas time with a present in the mail....

Sancte Fritz and Hilda,

Orate pro nobis.

My Aunt Tootsie, Dad's youngest sister guided me through some tough growing-up years. She taught me how to dance the Charleston — and how to have fun. This lady is in her 80s now, but will always remain 'young at heart.' She truly is the patron saint of eternal youth....

Sanctus Aunt Tootsie,

Ora pro nobis.

My Aunt Louise (another of Dad's sisters) and Uncle Arnie. They are saints of candy. They would visit us often and never failed to bring us a big sack of candy — licorice, jelly beans, or orange slices. Sometimes they would tease us by pretending that they had forgotten, but before the visit was over the sought-after candy made its appearance....

... Sancte Aunt Louise and Uncle Arnie,

Orate pro nobis.

These are just a few of the many saintly people who shared with us and cared about our family, a bunch of little kids growing up during some hard times. There are many more that I could mention if I had the time and space. My litany of saints would soon surpass the original version.

Now I realize that none of the aforementioned have any 'real' miracles to their credit, but they certainly warrant some recognition for their kindness and good deeds.

And so to....

All ye holy men and women,

Saints of God.... I say,

Gratias and Orate pro nobis.

CLAIM SYSTEM CHANGED

Animal Fund Claims To Be Handled Differently

WILL CHECK

The handling of domestic animal claims in Clayton County will be changed during the coming 12 months, it was announced by the County Board of Supervisors after its meeting on December 15.

Under the Iowa law, any person damaged by the killing of any domestic animal by dogs not owned by the party injured may file within ten days of his knowledge of the killing with the County Auditor of the county in which the damage occurred a claim for such damage. The law also provides that after the filing of the claim the board of supervisors shall act on the claim within a reasonable length of time and allow such part of the claim as it shall deem just.

According to information from the board, in the past have lacked information necessary to enable the supervisors to determine the just amount of the claim.

To correct this difficulty, the board has ruled that any person suffering damage to the amount of fifty dollars or more must notify the board immediately of the loss so that the board or one of its members can go to the scene of the killing, view the animal and judge the damage.

In the future, it was announced claims filed without the board being notified will not be allowed. The board will not inspect killing where the loss is less than $50. dollars. It was stated and that

Little nine month old Dorothy Marie Jaeger, who first saw the shores of America only a few weeks ago, looks content in the arms of her mother, Mrs. George Jaeger, a native of Germany, who came here with her soldier husband.

JAEGER - ENGELKEN WEDDING VOWS TAKEN
SATURDAY AT PETERSBURG

Miss Norma Jaeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jaeger of Guttenberg, and Walter Engelken, son of Clem Engelken and the late Mrs. Engelken of Petersburg, were married Saturday, September 19, in the SS. Peter and Paul church at Petersburg. Rev. Charles Steinlage was the officiating clergyman at the 9:00 a.m. ceremony. Traditional wedding music was furnished by Sister M. Claretta, organist, and by the church choir.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina length gown of baby-blue satin with all-over white lace, and a matching blue cummerbund. A crown of white flowers held in place her half-circular veil of net. She wore white gloves and carried a bouquet of white wild roses.

Miss Sharon Koelker of Dyersville, niece of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She was attired in a blue satin gown with all-over blue lace, styled like that of the bride's. A circular net veil and blue gloves completed her attire and her bouquet was of yellow wild roses.

Best man was the bride's brother, Raymond Jaeger of Guttenberg. Roland Jaeger of Guttenberg and Dave Engelken of Petersburg, brothers of the couple, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jaeger wore a black suit dress with black and white accessories, and a corsage of white wild roses.

A breakfast for the bridal party was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scherbring at Petersburg. A dinner reception was held in the Municipal building for 175 guests.

For traveling the bride chose a black sheath dress with white and black accessories, and a corsage of white wild roses. After a wedding trip through the western states the couple will be at home after October 1 in Petersburg.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's high school in Guttenberg and prior to her marriage had been employed with Our Lady of Lourdes convalescent home in Dubuque. Her husband received his education at SS. Peter and Paul school at Petersburg and is a carpenter.

CORRECTION

In the Lucille Jaeger obituary in last week's issue of The PRESS, the name of a son, George Jaeger, who preceded her in death on March 10, 1986, was unintentionally omitted. The name of a pallbearer, Raymond Jaeger, was also omitted. The Press regrets its error.
